Subject: NCA4 being released Nov 23
Attachments: NCA4_13_AirQuality_clean.pdf

Tim –

The release date for the Fourth National Climate Assessment (NCA4) has been moved up from the originally-scheduled date of December 7, 2018, to next Friday, November 23. NCA4 is a product of the US Global Change Research Program. I am the Coordinating Lead Author for the Air Quality chapter. There are several other EPA authors on the chapter, plus two NOAA authors and one from USDA.

I believe the plan is to do a web release of the report next Friday, with the print publication following next month. Attached is the current draft of the Air Quality chapter.

There may be some media contacts related to the release of this report. If you have any guidance for how to handle those (or if Emily can help with a desk statement), please let me know. Is there anyone else I need to notify in EPA public affairs?

Subject: NCA4 AQ chapter

Chris – I don't know if you've heard, but the release date for NCA4 is now scheduled for Nov. 23 (next Friday). Since you're the media contact for the AQ chapter,
